

febi ProKit – Supplied Complete. Repaired Non-Stop.

With ProKit, febi bilstein offers a tailor-made complete solution which saves workshops time and money, because they contain all the parts needed for the repair in question.

The arguments for these kits apply to both the car and commercial vehicle ranges alike: the complete sets, are perfectly tailored to specific repair requirements, and contain all the necessary installation materials alongside the parts themselves.

Additional trips to buy replacements for corroded screws or nuts become a thing of the past. Saving the workshop time and money.

The king pin set febi 45268 provides an example of the considerable role played by quality. The king pins, bushings, bearings, etc. within it are safety-related wear parts, whereby a lack of quality can lead to failure of the steering and impairment of braking. febi bilstein manufactures its own king pins and axle bushings at its Ennepetal site, and therefore guarantees a tailored production and strict quality checks.
